GUERNSEY - GENERAL INFORMATION

The Bailwick of Guernsey

Guernsey, together with its smaller dependencies of Alderney, Sark and Herm, form a self governing group of Channel Islands known as the Bailwick of Guernsey.

The Bailwick is situated in the Gulf of St. Malo, about 30 miles from the Normandy coast of France and 80 miles from the south coast of England.

Language

English is the official language, some legal documents are published in French, and a Norman patois is still used by the local families.

Land Area

Approximately 24 square miles, with a coastline of 45 miles. The island slopes from south to north, the highest point being 338 feet at the airport.

Currency

The States issues its own currency, both in notes and coins, but both Guernsey and English money is used, being of equal value -
100 pence = £1.00.
